

'SOUP IS ALL RIGHT,' SAYS ARCHBISHOP AT CHICAGO DINNER

Dr. Mundelein Tastes First Served to K. of C. Guests and Is Cheered for Act.

CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—Archbishop Mundelein tasted the first spoonful of soup served at a banquet of the Knights of Columbus last night. It was the first public dinner the Archbishop had attended since the recent attempt was made to poison guests at a banquet given in his honor and at which more than one hundred persons were made sick.

The Archbishop dipped his spoon into the soup and tasted it. "It's all right," he said. A rousing cheer followed and the banqueters took the soup without hesitation. A post card bearing an apparently authentic signature of Jean Cronce, avowed plot, received by Police Chief Healey to-day, threatened death to "some bishop" at Portland, Ore. The post-mark was "Portland, Feb. 18."

Healey, though not convinced the card was sent by Cronce, said the signature was apparently genuine. The card read: "Portland, 2-19-16. "Chief Polis, Chicago. "I see you are still after me. Why don't you come after me? Maybe I can give you some soup. Look out for some ink to happen here soon. I wish I had got the old bishop and Judge in the soup, but maybe I got him yet."

"I will get some bishop here I guess. You took my true print. I always go bomb me. Whoever arrest me will blow up with me."

"JEAN CRONCE."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Chief Bielaski of the Bureau of Investigation, Department of Justice, to-day received a letter from a woman in Chicago declaring she had knowledge that Jean Cronce, the Chicago poison suspect, had left this country and is now on the high seas. Mr. Bielaski sent the information in the letter to H. G. Claiborne of the Chicago bureau, directing him to turn it over to the Chicago police. Mr. Bielaski declined to give the address of the letter writer.

OSBORNE'S TRIAL IS FURTHER DELAYED

His Counsel to Take Appeal From Decision Refusing to Dismiss All the Indictments.

The trial of Thomas Mott Osborne on indictments charging perjury, immorality and neglect of duty was again postponed to-day in order to allow counsel for the accused time to prepare an appeal to the Appellate Division from the decision of Justice McChesney, handed down yesterday at White Plains, declining to dismiss the remaining indictment. Mr. Osborne, by agreement, was to have gone to trial next Monday.

The Westchester Grand Jury which has been investigating since last November filed its final report and was discharged by Justice McChesney to-day. Four additional indictments against convicts were handed up, three for assault and one for immorality.

OH, THIS CLIMATE! Edwin Aspinwall, of Port Richmond, was noted yesterday wearing a straw hat and also shortening the snow from his sidewalk.

ARRESTED AS SLAYER AFTER ASKING FOR AID

Police Say Francis Confessore Was Trying to Hide Away in a Hospital.

Francis Confessore, twenty years old, asked Magistrate Walsh in the New Jersey Avenue Police Court this morning to send him to a hospital, that he might be cured of the drug habit. He was ordered sent to jail to undergo the usual examination, and while waiting for the ambulance was identified by Detective Frank Burke as a man wanted by the Long Island City police for the murder of Samuel Carlin on June 26 of last year.

Detective Whitley went over from Long Island City and immediately identified Confessore. Carlin, who lived at Ozone Park, in Queens Borough, was shot by three men and died in St. Mary's Hospital, Jamaica, after telling the police that he had been shot in a quarrel over a woman, and giving the names of his alleged murderers. Two of the accused were arrested, and the hunt has been on for Confessore ever since. The police think that Confessore sought to hide away in the drug hospital as the safest refuge he could find from the authorities.

IN FILMY NIGHTIE, YVONNE SHOCKED MAMMA'S PRINCE

by him to Yvonne at about the time of her letters to him. The Prince was eager to explain one of them as a "consolation letter" when Miss Yvonne was very sad. Another was written after Yvonne had "told a certain lie" and apologized for it; the Prince's letter accepted the apology on the condition Yvonne deal sincerely with him thereafter. Another letter was written "after I had told Miss Yvonne I could not marry her because I was married to her mother."

The Prince said he never called Yvonne any other pet name than "Boutzou" or "Pussyskins" or "Little Pussy."

Q. Did Madame mention a divorce and your marriage with Yvonne? A. Yes. She said: "Why do you not go with Yvonne from now on?" I told a divorce was very difficult. She said she knew more about divorce than most lawyers, because she had already had two of them.

SAYS HE WAS NEVER ALLOWED TO SEE BABY.

Q. There has been mention of a baby—a little girl. Do you know where that child is? A. I have never had Madame's permission to see the baby. I do not know. I think it is at Madame's apartment at the Netherlands.

Q. You want to see the baby? A. Of course, if it is my child and I have the feelings of a father, I should want to see it.

Mr. Lawrence then undertook the cross-examination. Prince Mishkoff admitted the Princess had told him of anonymous letters regarding his "going on" with Yvonne and that the servants were gossiping.

Q. You testified about Yvonne listening at the door in her night dress. Did you ever hear her? No. Miss Yvonne told me of it herself. One time she even put letters under my door when Madame was in the room—but fortunately Madame did not see them.

Q. Did you see the letters come under the door? A. Yes, I remember very well, because I heard the rustle of the paper and I was trembling because Madame was there.

Q. When was this? Oh, I don't remember the date, but it was when I was much occupied about the baby, which I considered with a father's feelings.

Q. When did you tell Yvonne you could not marry her because you were married to her mother? A. At all times except after we went to Edgemoor. There we were an engaged pair. The date of the wedding was almost fixed.

HED 'NEED EXPRESS WAGON TO CARRY ALL HER NOTES.

Q. Was it fixed? A. Not exactly, but the date of our departure to Cuba when the divorce was finished was Nov. 6.

Q. Had a divorce proceeding been started? A. I do not know how you start a divorce in this country.

The Prince admitted visiting Lawyer Lawrence with Yvonne Gouraud, who acted as interpreter for him, and said Mr. Lawrence advised Yvonne to return to her mother.

Q. Did you ever kiss Yvonne? A. Certainly. Every night when I went to bed I kissed Yvonne and Madame as well.

Q. Did Madame object? A. Not at all. Madame is not prudish about such things.

Q. I show you a love letter. Is it not a love letter? A. Ah, see, in it I call her "baby."

Q. But how about this: "I kiss you, my charming little baby. Is it nice?" A. In French it is nothing, and when I go back to France I shall write to you, Mr. Lawrence, the very same thing.

Q. Did you mean what you wrote then? A. It was written after one of the scenes of Yvonne or of her mother.

Q. You say you liked Yvonne as a friend. Didn't Yvonne love you the other way? A. That is her affair, not mine.

Q. Were you deceiving the little girl? A. I loved her as I know her.

Q. Did you know she was in love with you? A. I knew it all the time. The Prince said if he had saved all Yvonne's love letters he would "have had to employ an express company to bring them to court."

DIVIDEND IN WAR BONDS.

Part of the Du Pont Nelson is in Anglo-French securities.

Directors of the E. I. Du Pont de Nemours and Company, usually called the Du Pont Powder Company, met in Wilmington, Del., to-day and declared an extra dividend of 2 1/2 per cent. on common stock in addition to the regular quarterly dividend of 1 1/2 per cent.

making a total distribution of 2 1/2 per cent.

The dividend is payable 5 per cent. in cash and 19 per cent. in Anglo-French bonds, valued at 95 cents on the dollar.

At the time the allied loan was floated in this country last year it was stated that a large amount had been taken by munition makers, of which the Du Pont and Bethlehem Steel Company were the principals.

Passing on the bonds to stockholders in the form of dividends is a new method of distribution to the public.

This dividend will require $16,000,000 par value of Anglo-French bonds. Du Pont Company is supposed to have $35,000,000 of them.
